

Maison Blanche station, Paris XIII – on the line 14 of the Grand Paris Express

Client
RATP - Société du Grand Paris
(SGP)

Program
Maison Blanche station, Paris XIII – on the line 14 of the Grand Paris Express

Selection method
Negotiated procedure with prior call for competition

Team
Groupe-6 (Architect) - Setec TPI
(Engineering, Lead consultant) - Systra (Engineering) - Véra Broëz (Associate architect)

Completion
2024

Location
Paris

Surface area
7,500 m²

Maison Blanche station, Paris XIII – on the line 14 of the Grand Paris Express

The Maison-Blanche station is located in the 13th district of Paris, along the Avenue d'Italie, between the Super-Italy tower, to the east, and the tunnel of the metro line 7, to the west. It is part of a dense urban fabric featuring a number of tall buildings. To allow the extension of line 14 and its connection with line 7, the Maison Blanche station accommodates 2 additional levels, and their surface access are requalified. Two emergences, which form luminous beacons by night, are staged at the foot of the tower Italy, in the heart of a forecourt that facilitates multiple mobilities.

